Position Title:	Director	Grade Level:	VII
Department	Office of Economic Development; Department of Engineering, Planning, and Zoning	Date:	January 2026
Reports to:	Director of the Department of Engineering, Planning, and Zoning	FLSA Status	Exempt

Statement of Duties: A County Economic Development Director leads the county government’s economic development efforts — focusing on policy, strategy, business support, and coordination with elected officials and county departments. This role is part of the county’s administrative structure (reporting to the Director of the Department of Engineering, Planning, and Zoning) and aims to align economic development activities with broader county goals.

Essential Functions:

The essential functions or duties listed below are intended only as illustrations of the various type of work that may be performed. The omission of specific statements of duties does not exclude them from the position if the work is similar, related, or a logical assignment to the position.

1. Plan, organize, direct, and manage the County’s economic development programs and initiatives.
2. Develop and implement strategies to attract new businesses, retain and expand existing businesses, and diversify the local economy.
3. Prepare and oversee the Office’s budget; coordinate grant applications, incentive programs, and economic development plans in alignment with County priorities.
4. Work closely with County departments (planning, zoning, building permits, etc.) to align development activities with County ordinances and goals.
5. Serve as the County’s primary point of contact for economic data, site selection assistance, and business outreach.
6. Serve as the County’s liaison to the Jefferson County Development Authority, ensuring coordination and alignment with County objectives; may serve in a dual role as Executive Director if separately appointed by the Authority’s Board.
7. Establish performance metrics and reporting mechanisms to track economic development outcomes, including business activity, investment, and program effectiveness.
8. Ensure economic development activities are conducted in compliance with applicable laws, County policies, and public ethics and transparency standards.
9. Perform other duties as assigned.

legal repercussions to the County. (4th degree)

Judgment: Works within general policy guidelines but must exercise significant judgment in developing office goals, prioritizing economic development initiatives, coordinating incentive and grant activities, and balancing economic growth objectives with County policies, regulatory requirements, and public accountability. The position requires independent decision-making in complex and often time-sensitive situations involving multiple stakeholders. (4th degree)

Complexity: The work requires examining, analyzing and evaluating facts and circumstances surrounding individual problems, situations or transactions, and determining actions to be taken within the limits of standard or accepted practices. Guidelines include a large body of policies, practices and precedents which may be complex or conflicting, at times. Judgment is used in analyzing specific situations to determine appropriate actions. Employee is expected to weigh efficiency and relative priorities in conjunction with procedural concerns in decision making. Requires understanding, interpreting and applying federal, state and local regulations. (3rd degree)

Supervision required: Under general direction, the employee plans and carries out the regular work in accordance with standard practices and previous training, with substantial responsibility for determining the sequence and timing of action and substantial independence in planning and organizing the work activities, including determining the work methods. The employee is expected to solve through experienced Judgment most problems of detail or unusual situations by adapting methods or interpreting instructions to resolve the particular problem. Instructions for new assignments or special projects usually consist of statements of desired objectives, deadlines and priorities. Technical and policy problems or changes in procedures are discussed with supervisor, but ordinarily the employee plans the work, lays it out and carries it through to completion independently. Work is generally reviewed only for technical adequacy, appropriateness of actions or decisions, and conformance with policy or other requirements; the methods used in arriving at the end result are not usually reviewed in detail. (3rd degree)

Nature and purpose of personal contacts: Contacts are primarily with co-workers and the public involving frequent explanation, discussion or interpretation of practices, procedures, regulations or guidelines in order to render service, plan or coordinate work efforts, or resolve operating problems. Other regular contacts are with service recipients and employees of outside organizations such as vendors, banks and/or developers/ contractors. More than ordinary courtesy, tact and diplomacy may be required to resolve complaints or deal with hostile, uncooperative or uninformed persons. Employee may furnish news media with routine information such as meeting agendas or departmental procedures. (2nd degree)

Work environment: The work environment involves everyday discomforts typical of indoor environments such as office settings, with infrequent exposure to outside elements. Noise or physical surroundings may be distracting, but conditions are generally not unpleasant. (1st degree)

Physical demands: Little or no physical demands are required to perform the work. Work effort principally involves sitting to perform work tasks, with intermittent periods of stooping, walking, and standing. There may also be some occasional lifting of objects such as ledger books, photocopy and computer paper (up to 30lbs.). (1st Degree)

Motor skills: Duties are largely mental rather than physical, but the job may occasionally require minimal motor skills for activities such as moving objects, operating a personal computer and/or most
